REFLECTING ON 2017

A LETTER FROM CEO, RAUL I. RAYMUNDO

We are incredibly grateful for all you have done to support our mission this past year. Thanks to you, we have made tremendous progress towards achieving goals outlined in our Vision 2020 Strategic Plan to expand our Community Resurrection Model and accelerate our impact. Since our founding, we have leveraged $505 million in community investment and empowered more than 100,000 individuals.

Within our Community Wealth Building pillar, we impacted 38,000 individuals and helped leverage more than $33 million in community investment. Of significance, TRP earned recognition as a Community Development Financial Institution—joining a select group of just over 1,000 organizations from around the country who are in a position to deploy capital in ways that compliment traditional lending institutions to create more homeowners and generate more community investment. Lastly, by working with our partner, Self Help Federal Credit Union, we supported the expansion of their footprint in the Chicago region and are excited to see their Chicago-based operation Second Federal Credit Union surpass more than $150 million in lending in our communities.

Within our Stewardship of Community Assets Pillar, we continued to create, preserve, and manage affordable housing and community facilities for our families and workforce. This is critically important as the cost of housing continues to outpace family incomes. In 2017, TRP continued to operate 599 units of housing across several communities to provide families with high quality affordable housing. In 2017, we launched a new initiative to acquire small buildings in Pilsen to prevent the displacement of working families. We added 37 units to this portfolio and have plans to triple the portfolio over the coming year. Last year also marked expansion of our model into the Brighton Park community as we partnered with Gads Hill Center to provide development services that will ultimately result in a new 18,000 sq. ft. early learning center for the community— the area in the state most-in-need of early learning opportunities.

Within our Community Ownership Pillar, we continued to make significant strides in several areas. In the area of immigration, our team continues to do great work in our communities. We responded to the increasingly hostile political climate by helping record-high numbers of people. In partnership with the City of Chicago, National Immigrant Justice Center, and several community partners we launched the Chicago Legal Defense Fund, and reached more than 24,000 Chicagoans providing them with education on their rights. After the current administration announced their decision to rescind DACA, our team partnered with Univision to launch DACA Tuesdays to ensure that as many DREAMers as possible would renew their DACA and continue to be protected. We held DACA renewal clinics, informational sessions and raised funds for DACA scholarships to ensure that as many DREAMers as possible renew their DACA status and continue to be protected. TRP also further increased its immigration capacity by opening a new immigration office in Pilsen and hiring new legal staff members.

Within this pillar's area of safety, we launched our #IncreasethePeace movement to encourage youth from several communities to become leaders and advocate for policies and initiatives that promote non-violence. The initiative received national attention and was featured by CNN's Van Jones over the summer. This year came with another meaningful highlight with the community we serve being featured in an award winning documentary on WTTW, "My Neighborhood: Pilsen". Lastly, in the area of education, we celebrated another graduating class of La Casa students and are proud to report that 94% of our students have graduated in six years or less—a rate that significantly exceeds their peers.

These are only a few of the highlights over the past year that you helped us achieve. Despite all the progress we made this past year, we still have a lot of work to do. We're looking forward to leveraging last year's success to continue creating healthy and vibrant communities. Our Imagine More Campaign has positioned us for this growth. We thank you again for standing with us in this effort as champions, donors, grantors, and partners.

Sincerely,

THE COMMUNITY RESURRECTION MODEL

TRP's innovative three-pillar Community Resurrection Model integrates services across Community Wealth Building, Stewardship of Community Assets, and Community Ownership. Programs and services in these pillar areas work strategically to counter community disinvestment from multiple angles, strengthening public, private, and community stakeholders to provide the sustainable foundation that gives rise to healthy communities.

The Community Resurrection Model is a transformative and adaptable process that creates healthy communities. This is a structured methodical model that capitalizes on its core competencies and the existing synergies within and across divisions.

OUR IMPACT

TRP's Community Resurrection Model continues to make real impact in the lives of the individuals and families we serve. We remain committed to our mission of building relationships and creating healthy communities.

IMAGINE MORE CAMPAIGN

The Resurrection Project embarked on an unprecedented campaign to raise more than $25 million to fund Vision 2020. Vision 2020 is a strategic initiative and catalyst designed to create greater impact in five years than in the first 25, transforming some of the most troubled neighborhoods into communities of promise.

THE IMAGINE MORE CAMPAIGN will provide the financial resources needed for the organization to experience targeted, accelerated growth through its core strategies and initiatives. We will expand our community building work to transform a greater number of communities. By the end of 2020, our goal is for TRP to have leveraged more than $800 million in community investment and have empowered more than 100,000 individuals since our founding.

STEWARDSHIP OF COMMUNITY ASSETS

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Through timely maintenance designed to meet all our tenants' needs, and by managing the leasing of new vacancies, Property Management ensures that our buildings are welcoming homes for our tenants and assets for the community.

TRP RESPONDS TO DISPLACEMENT THREAT BY LAUNCHING NEW WORKFORCE HOUSING PRESERVATION INITIATIVE

In 2017, TRP responded to increasing threats of displacement in the Pilsen community by launching an initiative to preserve workforce housing. This new initiative seeks to protect vibrant, socio-economically diverse communities by directly combatting gentrification and displacement.

This initiative will keep rents sustainable for firemen, police officers, school teachers, nurses and other service type workers by working with local property owners to acquire buildings and control their rents—keeping them out of the hands of developers who would raise their prices. To date, TRP has acquired and preserved 37 units.

The need for this type of program in our communities is substantial. New development projects threaten to increase real estate prices and push families to other areas. With more than 70% of households in Pilsen renting and 49.7% of these renters already being rent-burdened, the neighborhood is overwhelmingly susceptible to displacement from these proposals.

For TRP, this workforce housing preservation initiative represents a deepening of its commitment to the preservation of affordable housing for working families.

TRP PARTNERS TO BEGIN WORK ON NEEDED EARLY LEARNING CENTER IN BRIGHTON PARK

TRP has partnered with Gads Hill Center to leverage $6.5 million in public and private investment to start construction on an 18,000 sq. ft. early learning center for Brighton Park—the Chicago community most in need of early learning opportunities. The new center is set to open in fall 2018 and will serve 120 children each year furthering TRP’s long-term collaboration with Gads Hill Center, the owner and operator of the facility.

Providing quality early education represents an essential part of empowering families. By partnering with Gads Hill to create new assets that increase access to quality early childhood education for so many children, we enable families to develop upward mobility. This opportunity combined with affordable housing and job creation leads to a transformative impact at the family level. To date, TRP has contributed to this transformation by creating more affordable housing and community commercial space comprised of early childhood centers, schools, and various facilities to support low-income families.

The new facility will also add value to the Brighton Park neighborhood by converting a blighted building along a business corridor on Archer Avenue into a community asset. Rather than detracting from the area, it will now serve as a hub that will enable families to succeed through educational access and success.

STEWARDSHIP OF COMMUNITY ASSETS

REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT

The Real Estate Development department builds affordable housing for working-class families and community spaces that promote education and economic development, stabilizing neighborhoods and positively impacting communities.

COMMUNITY OWNERSHIP

TRAINING, ORGANIZING, AND ACTIONS

The Training, Organizing, and Actions department works to create healthy communities through civic engagement and advocacy, safety initiatives, leadership development and other programs designed to activate agents of change.

#INCREASETHEPEACE SPREADS THROUGHOUT CITY, EARNS NATIONAL ATTENTION

TRP garnered national attention this past summer by expanding its youth-led violence prevention initiative, #IncreaseThePeace, to seven neighborhoods throughout the city. The campaign is dedicated to promoting a culture of nonviolence in our communities. By empowering residents to take direct action, they are reclaiming their streets, creating safer spaces, and bringing resources to their community to help curb violence.

Led by youth participating in One Summer Chicago, TRP strategically works with community organizations, local churches, the Chicago Police Department, and local leaders, to identify 'Hot Spots' during times when gang violence is more likely to occur. On Friday evenings after 5pm, TRP held #IncreaseThePeace events that included campouts, peace marches, free food, music, dancing, sports, and bonfires. Additionally, TRP hosted local speakers, nonviolence trainings, and employment, financial literacy, and peacemaking workshops.

“We’re here to make the communities come together. I wanted to do this because I was here at the last camp out and I saw how people got together and united – and how we made an impact,” 15-year old Mayra Martinez told WBEZ Chicago. “If we teach young people from the beginning that this violence doing isn’t right, then they know how to teach their kids how to make the future community a better place.”

At the end of the campaign, youth organizers had the opportunity to meet with CNN Political Commentator Van Jones while he was in Chicago on his “We Rise Tour.” He spoke to the leaders about increasing dialogue and engagement at both the local and national levels.

The summer programming built upon the foundation #IncreaseThePeace established with its six first-of-their-kind peace events in 2016. The first was originally a peace march in the Back of the Yards neighborhood that was in response to a tragic shooting of a 17-year old girl, but eventually turned into a convivencia (family gathering) that lasted throughout the night. The initially singular action then grew from a reaction to a tragic event in one neighborhood into an ongoing movement for peace across the city.

Many #IncreaseThePeace participants also took part in La Casa’s College Boot Camp, a new seven-week summer program designed to empower rising juniors and seniors making the transition from high school to college. The program not only guided students through the college planning process, but also instilled the importance of graduating from college and becoming future agents of change for their communities. Every student in the Boot Camp received both leadership training and guidance on how to succeed in college and beyond.

IN THE WAKE OF HARMFUL IMMIGRATION POLICY, TRP STEPS UP TO PROVIDE NEEDED RELIEF

TRP's immigration team responded to increasing numbers of threats to the immigrant population in 2017 by launching new initiatives and expanding its reach to help more immigrant families.

2017 marked the first year of Chicago's Legal Protection Fund, a $1.3 million city initiative that supports ten organizations including The Resurrection Project (TRP) and Heartland Alliance's National Immigrant Justice Center (NIJC) in their efforts to expand access to protect immigrants in Chicago. The Fund was created in December 2016 to protect the more than 180,000 undocumented immigrants in Chicago following the Presidential election of Donald Trump.

Since its inception, the initiative has provided 1,560 Chicago residents with free legal screenings and legal representation for 766 cases. It has also trained 444 community navigators, who have in turn ensured that 24,947 Chicago immigrants now know their rights.

Current community-based organizations partnered with The Resurrection Project (TRP) in the Chicago Immigrant Legal Protection Navigator Network include Centro de Trabajadores Unidos, Centro Romero, Erie Neighborhood House, Hana Center / Korean American Resource and Community Center, Indo-American Center, Instituto del Progreso Latino, Southwest Organizing Project (SWOP), and United African Organization. Training and curriculum support is provided by National Partnership for New Americans (NPNA).

This past fall, The Resurrection Project opened a new office space for its immigration clinic and hired new staff members. This expansion further strengthened our position as a leader in providing undocumented individuals across Chicago access to legal counsel. These recent expansions allow TRP to increase its reach to the immigrant community by serving more clients and improving our clients' overall experience.

The increased capacity allowed TRP to implement a rapid response to President Trump's decision to rescind the DACA program this past September. TRP, in partnership with Univision, launched DACA Tuesdays to reach Univision's audience with accurate information. Additionally, TRP held over 50 hours of clinics throughout our service footprint, served over 300 people through legal services efforts and submitted over 100 DACA renewal applications to USCIS during a one-month period. These operations were funded in large part by a $10,000 rapid response grant from Illinois Immigration Funders Collaborative (IFC).

TRP also raised additional resources through its DACA Fund to give scholarships for the USCIS renewal fees. Local businesses such as Simone's in Pilsen and others assisted the fund's efforts by hosting fundraisers

COMMUNITY WEALTH BUILDING

TRP LENDING, INC.

TRP Lending, Inc. offers a second mortgage loan to help overcome the most common barriers to homeownership. Qualified buyers can secure an 80% LTV mortgage from a primary lender, while TRP Lending, LLC provides a second mortgage loan for 17% of LTV. The TRP loan features a low-down payment, and eliminates private mortgage insurance (PMI) thus reducing the monthly payment. The TRP Lending product caters to low- and middle-income buyers, enabling them to purchase a home with a 3% down payment and low monthly payments.

CDFI CERTIFICATION EXPANDS TRP'S ORGANIZATIONAL CAPACITY; POSITIONS IT TO ASSIST EVEN MORE FAMILIES

In a landmark achievement in July 2017, TRP Lending, LLC, was awarded certification as a Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI)-- a mission-driven financial institution, certified by the US Department of Treasury, that is dedicated to providing financial services to underserved communities. We are proud to be part of this national network dedicated to helping more low-income families become homeowners.

After reaching and serving nearly 30,000 families with wealth building services and creating more than 1,600 new homeowners, TRP launched a second mortgage loan product in November 2016 to complete our one-stop shop for affordable and sustainable homeownership, Full Circle Homes. TRP Lending, LLC was certified as a CDFI, enabling TRP to provide critically needed financing in communities where resources are scarce.

CDFIs invest in local communities and the residents who live there by providing critically needed financing often unavailable from mainstream financial institutions. CDFI certification enables Full Circle Homes to deepen its impact by offering high-quality financial products, creating more homeowners, and continuing to invest back into the community.

This increased capacity will allow TRP to help even more Chicago Southwest Side residents like Adriana Perez Hernandez achieve homeownership. When she and her husband were renting a very small apartment near the edge of Little Village and Pilsen, they wanted to move closer to work and have more space for their three dogs, but were doubtful it would be possible to purchase a home because they did not have established credit. They heard about TRP's free, two-part financial education and home purchase classes offered every month, and decided to attend.

After attending classes, TRP's staff guided Adriana through the entire process – from home purchase advising to helping her get a loan to finally finding a home. On May 31, 2017, about a year after she started working with TRP, Adriana closed on a newly renovated 4-bedroom home in the Chicago Lawn neighborhood. Thanks to the help of Full Circle Homes, the once-uncertain dream of homeownership has become a reality for her and her husband.

Full Circle Homes and TRP's Financial Wellness services are made possible through the generosity of our supporters, including significant contributions from Associated Bank, Bank of America, The Chicago Community Trust, Citi Foundation, JPMorgan Chase Foundation, Polk Bros. Foundation, Second Federal, UnidosUS, and U.S. Bank Foundation.

VENTANILLA ALLOWS TRP TO BROADEN IMPACT BY REACHING MORE FAMILIES

In March, TRP expanded its capacity to drive investment and impact families by partnering with the Consulate General of Mexico in Chicago to open the Ventanilla de Asesoría Financiera. The Ventanilla, which is supported by the Citi Foundation, will help families make smart financial choices by giving them access to responsible financial products and services that can help them build wealth.

TRP uses the location to offer free financial education services including personalized one-on-one financial coaching services, access to responsible financial products, financial literacy workshops, On-the-Road Financial Literacy workshops through the Mobile Consulate, and printed materials on financial services. Financial coaches who staff the Ventanilla provide all services in Spanish. To date, the service has already reached 38,512 low-to-moderate income Mexican Consulate constituents.

Thanks to our partnership with the Consulate General of Mexico, we were able to reach even more families in need of our financial services. “This new partnership will allow us to strengthen families financially by helping them improve their credit, reduce debt, and provide educational workshops on how to purchase their first home,” said Julian Posada, TRP’s Chief Operating and Enterprise Officer. “We believe in helping people achieve financial stability so that they can reach their financial goals and build long-term wealth for their families.”

COMMUNITY WEALTH BUILDING

FINANCIAL EMPOWERMENT

General Financial Wellness class topics include financial products, budgeting, building credit, and establishing savings plans. With the right resources and tools, TRP’s clients are able to reach financial capability, toward stability in rental tenancy or homeownership. For example, Lending Circles is a social loan program offering clients a zero-interest, zero-cost, and secure loan that establishes credit history through monthly installment payments. TRP also offers the Financial Capability Academy, a six-week program covering money management, banking products, retirement planning, and more.
